Art enriches our lives and enhances our community; the same can be said about philanthropy. That’s why we created the Art Advocates group, which benefits the OSU Museum of Art. When you become an Art Advocate, you become a part of a passionate community dedicated to advancing the museum’s mission of providing opportunities for others to experience art through exhibitions and educational programs.
The Art Advocates are the lifeblood of OSU’s Museum of Art, which is fast becoming the heart of Downtown Stillwater and a bridge linking the university with the local and regional communities.

Through its presence and programming, the museum creates opportunities for people to engage with each other and discover how art can enrich their lives. Through these shared experiences we are cultivating a population that believes in the power of art and a landscape where cultural initiatives thrive.

On behalf of the Art Advocates, we hope you’ll join us to support the OSU Museum of Art and the emerging artistic culture of Oklahoma State and Stillwater.
Members take pride in knowing that their membership gift helps to sustain the dynamic and enriching educational programs enjoyed by all. Become a member today!

“The Art Advocates is an opportunity to help elevate OSU to an even more prominent level, planting the seeds for enduring creativity, educational experiences and engagement for countless individuals who come to Stillwater. The investment of time and treasure that we make today will pay dividends in the future.”

“One of the beautiful things about Arts Advocates is that they advocate for the entire community. There are so many people who want to make art a part of everyone’s life. We are so thankful for all the group does to make the museum thrive.”
